Volunteers needed to assist passengers at St. Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport

With passenger numbers climbing, St. Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport is bringing in more visitors to the Tampa Bay area. In order to assist passengers, we host a Visitor Information Booth staffed by volunteers. The airport is seeking volunteers to offer their time and area expertise as a Pinellas County information specialist and serve as part of the airport customer service team.

The Information Specialist Volunteer should be a positive and outgoing person who wants to be an ambassador for Pinellas County. Familiarity with Pinellas County and the Tampa Bay area, visitor amenities and attractions, and the airport is preferred and a strong desire to learn more about our hospitality community and the visitor industry is a must. Training and continuing education will be provided.

Airport Volunteers will work at the information desk during scheduled shifts at the St. Petersburg-Clearwater Int'l Airport or throughout the terminal assisting passengers and guests. We are especially in need of volunteers in the evening hours. However, volunteer opportunities are available 7 days a week during mornings, afternoons and evenings based on personal preference and flight schedules.

In addition to on-site training, Airport Volunteers will attend Pinellas County's volunteer orientation and pass a background check. If you are interested and would like more information, please contact Michele Routh at mrouth@pinellascounty.org or call (727)453-7879. Thank you.
