St. Pete–Clearwater International Airport (PIE) Hosts Southeastern Guide Dogs Puppies in Training – November 12th

Southeastern Guide Dogs' five chapters of Pinellas County puppy raiser groups will be meeting at the St. Pete-Clearwater International Airport on Tuesday, November 12th at 6:00 pm. The airport is partnering with Allegiant Air to host approximately 30 service puppies-in-training and their handlers to experience what it's like to travel- from checking in and TSA Screening, to boarding an aircraft.

It is important for all puppies-in-training to be exposed to as many real-life situations as possible before they take on the incredible responsibility of being a guide. By allowing them to experience these tasks as puppies, they grow to be confident, unflappable guide dogs. Guide dogs allow the visually impaired to experience life to the fullest by providing independence and mobility.

"Making travel accessible to everyone is in Allegiant's DNA, and these puppies will one day be essential travel partners, as guide dogs for their human companions," said Hilarie Grey, managing director of corporate communications for Allegiant. "We are proud to co-host this training with our partners at St. Pete-Clearwater International Airport as a unique educational experience, and to recognize the extraordinary training these special dogs receive to be able to travel so seamlessly."

Media is invited to attend the tour which will begin in Bag Claim at 6:00 PM and conclude at approximately 7:30 PM. To attend, contact:
