The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) will hold virtual workshops in June on the Draft Environmental Assessment (EA) for the South-Central Florida Metroplex, the agency's plan to modernize air traffic procedures for air carrier airports and their satellites in the southern half of the state.

The virtual workshops will give residents an opportunity to learn more about the Draft EA and ask questions of environmental and air traffic control experts.

Information on how to participate in a virtual workshop and review and comment on the Draft EA is available at the South-Central Florida Metroplex website.
